Grimsby Farm Service Force News & Views

Co-Editors
Betty Hollier and Shirley Stevens

Another week has rolled around and we have very little news to report, except that we have three new girls in camp. They come from Hamilton and all attend Westdale Collegiate.

As this is to be our last column we think that perhaps you would like to know what happens around camp, and why you hear those horrible shrieks and groans.

"A Day in The Life Of A Farmerette"
Place—G.H.S. gymnasium.
Time—6:30 a.m. (Oh unhappy hour!)

There goes the air raid siren—pardon us—it's just the bell that wakes us up.

Do you see the Farmerette jumping out of bed eager to get to work? "Girls it looks like rain"—are the farmerettes sorry—oh no; not they. Shouts of joyousness arise from both gym and annex but naturally those beautiful grey clouds disappear and out comes the horrible hot sun, yes, we spelled it s-u-n. From then on a procession of weary looking individuals go to breakfast and always find that they are too late to get six cookies in their lunch, but must be contented with one.

The growers always seem to get here bright and early so little Miss Farmerette, having practically completed her breakfast comes flying out with her lunch in one hand and boots, etc. in the other.

From then on you know what happens—or do you? Periodically you look up and see us sitting on ladders, boxes, ground or anything handy, eating cherries, peaches, pears or grapes.

You realize by now that we are hard working Farmerettes—especially at two minutes to twelve or at six o'clock. After a day of playing with the farmer's dogs or cats we merrily climb on a "gas buggy" and proceed at our own risk home—did we say home?—It was never like this.

Dirty and bedraggled we rush in to find, to our great dismay, that the hot water has been all used. Then the supper bell rings. The school is now deserted and the dining room is completely full.

Now, if not in a state of collapse upon our upper bunks (how did we get up there?) we are sitting in Kamnacher's knitting or writing letters—(home?) At 9.25 we realize we should be making tracks for camp and so once more we dash off in a hurry. Thus ends a typical day in the life of a farmerette.

Seriously though, we do thank all our friends in Grimsby who have been most kind to us. We all hope that we shall be able to return next year. Goodbye for now and thanks again.

Trophy Honours Son Of Grimsby Man Lost At Sea

Alex Stewart, 8 Kidd Avenue, was officially informed that his son, Pilot Officer Maxwell McLean Stewart, was officially presumed dead. Pilot Officer Stewart, a promising figure in amateur sporting circles of western Canada, was a teacher on the staff of the Chilliwack, British Columbia, High School. Some months ago his father was advised that his son was missing at sea, and notification that he was listed as dead for official purposes is the only word he has had since that time.

Prior to joining the school staff, Pilot Officer Stewart was outstanding in athletic circles, being especially prominent in track and field sports. In his memory, the student council of the school where he taught has presented a trophy to be competed for each year. The trophy will be up for annual competition in track events.

ASSAULT CHARGE LAID

Karl Pischke, North Grimsby Township, will appear in magistrate's court, St. Catharines, tomorrow morning to answer a charge of assault on the person of M. E. Ripenburg and John Prusak. The complainants had to be treated for injuries said to have been inflicted by a grape cutter.

Business Changes Numerous Here During Past Week

Kamnacher's Closed Last Saturday; Anderson Closing Shortly—Hillier Finished Monday—Others In Offing.

Known to thousands of bus travellers going through Grimsby to Niagara Falls, Kamnacher's restaurant closed last Saturday night. The closing, according to George Kamnacher, was the result of a shortage of help and scarcity of things to sell.

Purchased some seventeen years ago by his father, the restaurant was the regular "breather" stop of the Gray Coach Lines, and was well known for the candy and ice cream which was manufactured on the premises. By far the largest restaurant in town, it did a big business over summer weekend and holidays in the days before war-time restrictions put a crimp in pleasure driving.

Rumours that a bowling alley would be established in the restaurant were received with considerable satisfaction but have not been substantiated.

Another change in business was recorded during the past week when James W. Baker bought the building owned by D. E. Anderson at the north-west corner of Main and Depot streets. Mr. Anderson will be closing out in November, after which time Mr. Baker will take possession and establish his stationery business in the store. As was to be expected, rumours started immediately news of this transaction became public. Some had it that Mr. Anderson would be purchasing in partnership with another businessman, the Village Inn, and while several people declare that this deal has been discussed with B. A. Graham, proprietor of the hotel, Mr. Anderson said that there was nothing in it.

"Don't know what I will be doing," was his comment. "Guess I'll be going to work."

Another change in the face of Main Street was the closing this week of Robert Hillier's business. The closing came abruptly, and the sale of newspapers and magazines in that store will be carried on by C. H. Rushton.

Although there is nothing definite as yet, it is believed that these changes are the forerunners of several others which will come in to effect in the near future.

Robert Griffith Lost, Presumed To Have Been Killed

News Received Week After Report He Was Missing After Air Operations—Brother Is Home From Alaska.

News of the death of Robert Kitchen Griffith, age 31, during an operational flight over enemy territory, was received here last Saturday with deep regret by a host of his friends and acquaintances.

The news came just a week after he was reported "missing". Sergeant Air Gunner Griffith was born here and attended the Beach Public School and the Grimsby High School. Prior to enlisting in January of last year he was on the staff of E. D. Smith and Sons, Winona. On his enlistment he was posted from Toronto Manning Pool to Picton, Guelph and finally to Jarvis Bombing and Gunnery School, from which he graduated at the end of January of this year.

Just after receiving his wings, and before leaving for his post overseas, the flier married Miss Miriam Keiterborn, Main Street East. He is the son of the late Harry Griffith and Mrs. Griffith. A brother, Jack, who has been in Alaska recently, left for Grimsby immediately on receipt of news that his brother was missing, and intends to return there shortly.

Cottagers' Buy Casino At Beach

The Grimsby Beach Casino, a popular dancing place some years ago, has been bought by the Grimsby Beach Cottagers' Association, it is understood. Considerable time is planned for it in the future, and it is to be used as a community center. The property was for some time listed for sale.

SEVERAL GRIMSBY SOLDIERS IN SAME GERMAN PRISON CAMP

Luey Twins, Heywood, Carlton And Robinson Being Held by Enemy After Dieppe Raid.

Four of this district's soldiers, who were reported missing after the Dieppe raid in August, have been reported prisoners of war, according to word which has reached here at various times during the past week.

Last Friday morning Mrs. Vera Luey was informed through the International Red Cross that one of her twin sons, Private Lyle Luey, of the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry, was being held in Camp Stalag 8 B. Word of his whereabouts came on his twentieth birthday. The second brother, Leslie was in the same unit as Lyle, and was reported missing after the Dieppe Raid, and is now same camp.

Mrs. Mary Robinson received word from North Bay that her son Morley of the Royal Canadian Engineers, was being held as a prisoner of war by the enemy. News to this effect was sent to his wife who is residing in North Bay with her parents.

Private John Carlton, son of Joseph Carlton, North Grimsby Township, is also reported a prisoner of war.

Yesterday word was received by Mrs. Joseph Heywood, 101 Murray Street, that her son, Private Dennis Heywood, was being held at Stalag 8 B.

The A. & P., Carroll's and Dominion Stores will close at 10 o'clock on Saturday nights beginning October 3rd.

MEMORIES: Beamsville, Smithville and Abingdon fall fairs with the candy man pulling white taffy over a hook... bringing a big hunk home to Ma... straw sailor hats with streamers in the back... bone handled knives and forks... high school concerts, when Jessie Alexander and Jimmy Fax were the gorgeous entertainers... turning the crank on the ice cream freezer for Banty Culp and being allowed to "lick the dasher" for my pay... sugar pear preserves... the wonderful aroma emanating from Ma's kitchen at catsup making time... white horsefly nets for Sunday... red geared buggies and brass mounted harness... palm leaf fans... black saten sunshades... varied colored gum drops...

We often laugh at the funny old pictures in old magazines and newspapers, and wonder how women made their figures look as they do in some of the old fashioned cuts. A glance at the reading matter in these same periodicals gives us something to think about, because the ideas expressed certainly mirrored life as it was then as very different to the tenor of our ordinary lives of today.

I came across an item the other day that originally appeared in one of the Walkerton weeklies of 35 years ago, entitled "The Automobile Nuisance"—Here 'tis.

"In Kincardine one day last week, an automobile frightened a horse, the horse ran away, the driver was thrown out of the rig and had his leg broken. It is becoming very apparent from incidents like this that something will have to be done about these automobiles. For several years past the farmers in the vicinity of Toronto have been agitating for a law to restrain automobiles from using the public highways but so far have not been able to accomplish anything. But gradually the nuisance is becoming more general."

"Nearly every town in the province has its automobile now and some of them have more than one. The machines go scotching through the country in all directions and no road is sacred to them. Horses are easily enough controlled in the presence of a railway train will go crazy at the sight of an automobile

Young Sailor Dies After Falling Off Ship Near Grimsby

Dr. MacMillan Called To Boat By Naval Officer After Accident—Was On Training Cruise Near Here.

Dr. J. H. MacMillan pronounced life extinct after working for the better part of two hours over Ronald McFaulds, 17, of Guelph. Dr. MacMillan was called to the naval training ship "Venetia" by an officer after McFaulds in some manner fell from the boat into the water. The ship, a former private yacht, was on a training cruise in the lake at the time.

First intimation that something was amiss was when a phone call was received from naval headquarters at Toronto asking Hamilton Fire Department to take an inhalator to the ship. The inhalator, with firemen and an interneer from a Hamilton hospital, put out in a harbour patrol boat, but were unable to locate the craft. In the meantime an officer from the ship put ashore near Grimsby and called for a doctor. The Hamilton boat, after receiving the call, cruised for four hours looking for the naval vessel, which had, in the meantime, put into Toronto.

It is understood the young seaman was in the water only a few moments, but he was apparently lifeless by the time medical aid was forthcoming. Chief Coroner Sm.rie Lawson of Toronto ordered an autopsy into the cause of death.

Frost Nips Grapes On Hill; Some Damage Is Result

Apples Moving At Fairly Brisk Pace With Good Prices—Basket Makers Work On Next Year's Requirements.

A severe frost Monday night and Tuesday morning hit the grape crop on the Grimsby Mountain about one mile south of the crest. The loss is extensive, according to growers, although most of the affected fruit can be used by the wineries. It was so damaged that it is unsuitable for baskets. No damage resulted below the mountain.

A carload containing twelve tons of grapes was recently sent out of this district, one of the first big shipments of the year. The crop is quite heavy, and, per ton, growers are realizing from thirty-five to forty dollars. Apples, especially eating apples of the Macintosh and Delicious varieties are bringing fair prices, and the demand is expected to absorb a fairly heavy crop. Growers have been offered prices ranging from a dollar to a dollar and forty cents by truckers in the district.

Basket manufacturers are beginning to get clear of the tight basket situation which has prevailed here for some time. Though the factories are working full time, the demand for baskets seems to have eased somewhat as a result of several thousand bushels of apples being sent out of the district in hampers. One basket manufacturer stated that he was continuing to make containers in order that some surplus can be built up between now and next season. He reported that prospects for adequate help at that time looked slim, and stated that this policy was likely to be adopted by most of the manufacturer.

Richard Bertram Is Thought Lost; In Many Flights

Former Grimsby Man Presumed Dead After Failure to Return—In More Than Forty Trips Over Enemy Territory.

After more than forty operational flights over enemy territory, Flight Sergeant R. E. Bertram has been reported missing and believed killed, according to word received by his father, J. H. Bertram, 60 Market Street, Hamilton.

Ft. Sgt. Bertram was born in this district, and after receiving his earlier schooling here, was a student at Delta Collegiate. Prior to joining the R.C.A.F., he was in the interior decorating business. He received his wings at Dunnville in August of last year, and proceeded overseas soon afterwards.

Of United Empire Loyalist stock, Ft. Sgt. Bertram was born on the property originally settled by his great-great-grandfather, who came here from what is now New Jersey in 1787. Mrs. W. E. Geddes is an aunt.

Catholic League Bridge Party Was Successful Event

A good sum of money was realized for the Catholic Women's League last Tuesday night when, under the convenship of Miss Peggy O'Neil, a bridge and euchre party was staged in the newly-decorated parlours of the Hotel Grimsby. Upwards of fifty people were present, and following play lunch was served. The evening closed with a sing-song.

Prize winners were Mrs. G. Passer, Mrs. E. Bassel, Mrs. E. Swayze, Mrs. E. Hand and Miss C. Foy. The prizes were presented by Father G. Breen who complimented the League on the success of the evening and expressed the thanks of the committee responsible for the generous support received.

Those assisting in the party were Mrs. Fred Schwab, Mrs. John Hewitt, Mrs. Edward Hand, Mrs. J. R. McVicar, Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. H. Melzer and Mrs. Roy D. Taylor. Mrs. Florence Baisley and Mrs. McVicar provided accompaniment for the musical portion of the evening.

TO ESTABLISH A SEMINARY IN THE TOWNSHIP

Ukrainian Catholic Brotherhood Acquires Farm Of Burgess Book For Purpose—Classes Start Next June, Says Director.

The Basilian Fathers of the Ukrainian Catholic Church have acquired the two hundred and twenty acre farm of Burgess Book on Grimsby Mountain, and their plans call for the establishment of a theological seminary in the near future.

This information came from Rev. Father Josaphat Tymochko, superior of the order, who has been here during the past week making arrangements to take over the farm. Father Tymochko, who comes from the order's headquarters at Mundeer, Alberta, stated that the seminary would be a finishing school for members of his order, and that graduates would be assigned to their churches on completion of their of their course here. The course of studies is of five years duration, and the chief subjects will be theology and philosophy. Prior to coming here the students will have completed their junior work in Mundeer. Each class is expected to consist of fifteen.

The farm which the order has acquired is planted with several types of fruit, and the property has four residences on it. No building is planned for the immediate future. The farm will be operated by members of the order.

In addition to his duties as director of the seminary, Father Tymochko will take over the pastorate of St. Mary's Church on the Ridge Road, the first time that church has had a regular pastor since it was started several years ago.

Students for the priesthood come from all parts of the continent, said Father Tymochko. Many Canadian provinces are represented, as well as several parts of the United States. Rev. Father B. B. Andreychuck, son of Nicholas Andreychuck, North Grimsby Township, and at present stationed in Chicago, was one of Father Tymochko's students at Mundeer.

FIND BOOTHS ON HIGHWAYS ARE PROBLEM

Hydro Officials Detail Lights Shut Off As Council Committee Suggests—Co-operation Said Good.

Highway fruit booths are the latest worry of Hydro officials charged with the responsibility of keeping power consumption down to a minimum. David C. Thomson, manager of the local Hydro office, reports that householders are co-operating in a splendid manner, and that he believes the requirements under the new order are being met.

It has been noticed, however, that several booths along the highway are still lit up at night, though the order of the power controller made it plain that outside advertising and display lighting is "out" for the time being. Asked if there was any possibility of action being taken here as was threatened by the Hamilton Hydro manager yesterday, Mr. Thomson replied that it was not impossible, pointing out that the cutting off of electrical service is the only recourse if consumers would not obey the regulations. The Hamilton official stated that such a method would be resorted to if it was found that Hydro users were not doing their part. The possibility of difficulty in getting service restored was also mentioned in Hamilton.

"On the whole, the co-operation has been very good, though," said Mr. Thomson.

Among the lights which have been ordered off by the light committee of the town council are 28 on Main street east and west of the business section, 8 on Nelson Boulevard, 3 on Depot Street, 1 each on Murray Street and Lake Street, 2 on the Elm Street bridge, four on the Main Street bridge, and 2 on the south side of Main Street, between Robinson and Oak Streets. These are the lights which the council committee asked to have removed, and their being turned off by the Hydro comes at the committee's request.

Faith In Christ As Our Personal Saviour

Acts 16: 13-15; Romans 3:1-11.

GOLDEN TEXT

Romans 3:1 — Therefore, being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ.

An introduction to the Lesson Faith is taking God at His word. The gospel is the glad message of an accomplished redemption through the death and resurrection of our Lord Jesus Christ.

A Lesson Outline What we receive by faith—(Romans 3:1-5).

Justification—(verse 1a). Peace with God—(verse 1b). Access to the throne of God—(verse 2a). Standing in grace—(verse 2b). Triumph over trials—(verse 3a). Patience to endure—(verse 3b). Enlarged experience, assured hope, the indwelling Spirit (verses 4, 5).

The Heart of The Lesson There are many truths which we may or may not understand. But for salvation, there is one thing that is all important, and that is a personal faith in our Lord Jesus Christ as our very own Saviour. Let us be certain about this. To turn away from Him means eternal judgment (St. John 3:36). Faith honors God, faith rests upon what God has said. Credulity rests on the opinion of men.

An Illustration A young Irish lad, when dying, who had found rest in Christ, exclaimed, "I always knew that Christ was necessary, I never knew before that He was enough." Have we learned this lesson?

Laugh And Learn

Learn to laugh. A good laugh is better than medicine.

Learn to attend strictly to your own business.

Learn to tell a story. A well-told story is as welcome as a sunbeam in a sickroom.

Learn to avoid ill-natured remarks and everything likely to create friction.

Learn the art of saying kind and encouraging things.

Learn to keep your troubles to yourself. The world is too busy to care for your ills and sorrows.

Learn to hide your aches and pains under a pleasant smile.

Learn to stop grumbling. If you cannot see any good in the world, keep the bad to yourself.

THE SECOND PAGE

Give Me My True And Trusty Blade

Take care of your kitchen and table cutlery. It will likely be very scarce from now until the end of the war.

Knives should be used only for cutting food, and never for hacking at bones, or cutting metal wire, paper or string.

Never hold a knife over a flame. This spoils the steel's temper. Another thing to be avoided is the prying off of bottle or can covers. Do not use them for repair work around the house or barn, or in the garden either.

Knives should be dried thoroughly before being placed in a drawer, and never should be allowed to stand in water for any length of time. If a knife is stained, apply scouring powder to it. And remember to wash the blade of the knife first when it is being cleaned.

Wood racks are a good investment because they keep the knives in order, save them from bent points and nicked edges, and are very inexpensive to buy.

A sharp edge can be put on cutlery quickly and easily with a few strokes of a Carborundum stone. A sharpening steel is the most satisfactory way to keep knife edges sharp. To use one properly, however, a little practice is needed. Hold the steel firmly in the left hand and bring the heel of the blade against the edge of the steel down toward you, so that the point of the blade leaves the steel near the lower edge of the steel. Do this on one side first, then on the other side. About a dozen good strokes are usually enough. Metal disks are not recommended as they tend to wear away the edge unevenly, and may even cause the blade to break.

Once

Once a girl's ambition was to be the kind of person that people looked up to. Now she prefers to be the kind they look around at.

If some people lived up to their ideals they would be stooping.

Be master over yourself. Do not say all you know. Do not believe all you hear. Do not do all you can.

Calm and quiet are the signs of strength; hurry and haste betoken weakness.

There are two sides to every question—the wrong side and your side.

"My parents left me two very good legacies. One was a good constitution, and the other was the necessity to work."

—Sir Alfred Yarrow.

IN WHICH THE-WOMAN-NEXT-DOOR LOOKS AT US, AT OUR TOWN, AND OCCASIONALLY AT THE WORLD . . .

At The End Of The Harvest

At the end of the fruit harvest there are always odds and ends left on trees and vines—a few quinces, half a basket of crab apples or snows, a dozen late-ripening peaches, pears, plums, two or three stalks of elderberries, perhaps some wild grapes. And one can always find the odd bunch, here and there, of "tame" grapes, twisted up in the tendrils and left behind by the cutters.

These, blended discreetly, will make a delicious conserve to put sparkle into the rather dull meals that seem to follow the New Year. Now you've got into the swing of canning and jamming, you feel you really can't pass up a chance to fill the last few remaining jelly glasses against the long winter. "Pots of Mystery" they're called at our house.

Make Your Own

More women are making their own clothes. Try to get near the pattern counter in any of the big city stores, and you will be convinced of it.

On Saturday afternoon high school girls were selecting tricky little patterns for jumper skirts, blazers and party frocks. Mothers bent on making and making-over school clothes for their junior graders were carefully selecting patterns, having regard to available yardage. Business women of all ages were choosing patterns to suit their type.

Turning out a smart, well-made garment with your own hands and the help of a good pattern is one of the big thrills of life. With the clear instructions that go with patterns nowadays, making and fitting a frock or any kind of garment is no longer a matter of guesswork. Take your time, follow the rules carefully,—and it's fun!

Through The Eyes Of A Stranger

Not so long ago we found ourselves walking through the town with a visitor from a western province to whom we were showing the sights of our picturesquely situated little town. It was during the humidity wave, you remember, the third week in September, with one of those exasperating south-east winds blowing.

Never before had we seen so much litter on Main street,—chocolate bar wrappers by the hundreds, empty cigarette boxes, cigarette stubs, candy and cones trampled on the sidewalks, broken bottles, spilled milk and pop, cars untidily parked, and frowzy shop windows.

Turning off Main street, one was struck by the extent to which organized hordes of plantain had ousted the grass from lawns and curbs, and spread over the edge of the walks, where there should have been a neat little trench dug to restrain it. Thanks to the copious rains of summer there was an abundance of wayside weeds in places where there shouldn't have been. One small front-yard flower bed was a mass of luxuriant ragweed. The sidewalk was a succession of dips and hollows, and you had, literally, to watch your step to avoid stumbling.

Not an hour before, walking this way alone, we hadn't noticed anything out of the common.

Sufferin' Cats!

Why hasn't someone come forward with a petition to be signed by all people with a passion for pussies, praying for a special dispensation in the matter of cat feed; said petition to be duly forwarded to some wartime administrative body or other?

The tins of cat food were among the first to disappear from the grocers' shelves. The principal ingredient was horse meat, we were told, with piquant flavourings to suit differing personalities. It would be no exaggeration to say that kittens "cried for it," and how they all thrived on it!

In an attempt to soften the blow of its disappearance, there were vague rumours going about that the food was to be put up dry, in packages. Somehow it never got farther than the rumour stage. We wouldn't care how it was put up if we could only get back the same balanced diet for our pets. Liver and hamburger and canned salmon isn't the same thing at all. Besides, it's too expensive. Surely they didn't take the cats' horse-meat to feed the troops! No, it must have been because the plant and machinery was needed for essential war work. Some dog food, and loads of dog biscuits are still to be seen in the shops.

By the way, to what or whom should such a petition be presented?

Our Weekly Recipe

Here's a good supper dish for a chilly fall evening and, with the exception of the pepper, the ingredients are all home-grown. It belongs to the appetizing chowder family.

CELERY CHOWDER—Two cups chopped celery, 1 cup diced carrots, 1 small onion, 2 tablespoons butter, 3 cups milk, 2 tablespoons flour, salt and pepper. Cook vegetables in 2 cups water until tender. Drain and reserve water. Add butter to vegetables. When melted, sprinkle with flour. Stir until well-blended. Add vegetable water and milk. Cook five minutes. Season.

Sounds edible, doesn't it?

Good Neighbour Envoys

Thousands of Canadian-born are now making their way southward. Some will visit the United States. Others will journey on to Mexico, or to the Islands of the Caribbean. Still others will winter in the Republics of South America. All will spread goodwill. These envoys are the birds.

According to ornithologists of the Royal Ontario Museum, bird migration in the autumn is slow and inconspicuous, quite unlike the phenomenon of spring. The arrival of the first robin on your lawn last March was surely evident but the same bird's departure this autumn will go unnoticed. Most people gradually come to realize that the birds are gone.

Do you remember the long chain of swallows perched on telephone wires along country roads last July? Do you remember when the bobolinks stopped singing in the hay meadows? Even then these birds were assembling for the long journey. Subsequently there has been a quiet procession passing southward, by day and by night. The freeze-up will stimulate the tarty-sparrows, hawks and ducks—to do likewise. But these international envoys will be back with good-will for Canadians in the spring.

In Freedom's Cause

You can't keep a good Canadian beaver in when he wants to be somewhere else. A group of beavers were placed in a pen at the New York Zoological Park and apparently did not approve of the enclosure provided for them. But during the first day there was no outward indication of this attitude. The beavers spent the day busily examining the four-foot fence enclosing them, and looking over the brush, leaves and branches supplied them for winter quarters.

After dark, however, they went to work. The branches were carried to a point along the fence. Over the branches were piled water-soaked leaves. Mixed with the leaves they used sticky mud. All these things were carried between their paws and chins. By morning they had built a fine ramp leading to the top of the fence. Had all this been discovered an hour later the job would have been finished and all the beavers would have walked up the ramp to freedom.

Canadian Humour

Canadian humour as a type differs from American and English. There is not the characteristic exaggeration of the one, nor the characteristic restraint of the other. There is a closer affinity, perhaps, with the Scottish type, as exemplified by Barrie, with its whimsicality and sympathetic indulgence, but the Canadian style is more downright, and deals more with action, less with character. It is a hearty sense of fun, arising from genuine joy of life, including an eye for the absurd which is latent in the commonplace. It is essentially good-natured. Steering a perilous course between crudity and sentimentality, it usually contrives to avoid both, by sheer force of simple, sunny cheerfulness.

One has the feeling that it is not yet fully co-ordinated with the bulk of Canadian literature, and that when the qualities of subtlety and insight are more highly developed and the whole then absorbed into the Canadian author's mentality until it is a part of his subconscious equipment, Canadian fiction may attain the intangible endowment of distinction which at present it mysteriously lacks.—Lionel Stevenson, in "Appraisals of Canadian Literature."

Our Weekly Poem

MY WORK BENCH

My work bench is a kitchen sink, The table where I mix my bread, A kitchen stove . . . a set of shelves, The wide, white bosom of a bed, A woodbox filled with fragrant pine, Wee dresses blowing on a line.

My work-bench is a window-sill, Floors to be polished . . . meals to cook, With now and then a stolen peep Between the covers of a book— A hurried glance, for well I know How swift the morning hours will go.

And so my songs shall bear the print Of busy hands that knead and stir, The savor of an apple-pie; Instead of frankincense and myrror.

They'll breathe of wood and bread And this warm sunlit room . . . and me.

—Edna Jaques.

A Kind Thought For The Kitchen Table

If your kitchen table has a soft-wood top, here is an inexpensive and satisfactory finish for it.

Begin with a thoroughly cleaned table, scrape a little paraffin wax over the surface and iron it with a warm iron. Repeat three or four times. This makes a grease resistant surface.

How Gossip Starts

A merchant who had a lot of mailing to do, asked to borrow the doodad used in the News office to lick stamps and envelopes and was told he could have it. Passing the editor a little later he hollered: "I'll be over after your licker." The village gossip within hearing distance told of what he had heard, and the story got noised about that there was booze in the News office.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

PICTURE YOUR HOBBY

You don't have to like cycling to enjoy this fine snapshot—but pictures like this will help to make any pastime or hobby more memorable.

PHOTOGRAPHY as a universal hobby has one great advantage in that it fits in perfectly with practically any other pastime or avocation.

If you like to go hiking, bike riding, or camping you can always take your camera along. If you are interested in animals and birds, flowers, or chemistry and metallurgy, the camera provides a perfect means of preserving your experiences. It only is picture making enjoyable in itself, but it will actually increase the enjoyment you obtain from your other hobbies.

The best idea, of course, is to use your camera constructively. If you like to build things—model trains, for example—keep a step-by-step record of your work whenever you build something new. Many specialists—such as engineers, doctors, and construction men—actually take their cameras to work with them. Whenever they come upon a tough problem, or an unusual case, they make a complete record of it. Such photographs are invaluable reference material.

In most cases specialized equipment isn't at all necessary. An ordinary camera, a reliable exposure guide, perhaps a close-up portrait attachment, and possibly a filter will fill all requirements. Then it's just a matter of focusing correctly and generally following good photographic technique.

Look over your other hobbies today. Think of how you might put photography to work in increasing your enjoyment of them. Whatever you're interested in, you'll get a greater kick out of it if you keep the story permanently in pictures.

Canadian Pork Is Bound For Britain So Substitute Dishes Must Be Found

Canadian pork products are bound for Britain at the rate of over 11,500,000 pounds a week. Canada contracted to send 600,000,000 lbs. of bacon and hams to the British people by the end of October of this year and shipments have been failing behind schedule lately because Canadian consumption of pork products has increased. Consequently Canadians are being asked not to buy pork until such time as Britain's requirements have been met. At the same time the Consumer Section of the Department of Agriculture announces that Canadian made cheese is now plentiful and the announcement will be welcomed by housewives.

Cheese of course is a protein food just as meat is and cheese dishes can be substituted for meat at the main meal of the day once or twice a week. Cheese, too, adds flavor and food value to many supper dishes and salads and finds a welcome place in the lunch box of the working man or school child.

The following recipes have been tested in Canada's Kitchen in the Consumers Section of the Department of Agriculture.

Cheese Roast

2 cups grated cheese
2 cups cooked kidney or navy beans
1/4 cup finely diced celery
1 teaspoon minced parsley
1 egg slightly beaten
2 cups soft stale bread crumbs
2 tablespoons butter
Salt and pepper
Drain beans, mash with fork and add with celery and parsley to cheese. Add egg and mix thoroughly. Melt butter in saucepan. Add crumbs, mixing well and cooking until slightly browned. Add to cheese mixture until stiff enough to shape into a loaf. Roll in remaining crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven until heated through nicely browned. Serve hot with tomato sauce. Small onion finely chopped or grated may be added if desired.

Corn And Cheese Casserole

1 cup corn
1 cup bread or cracker crumbs
1 cup grated cheese
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups scalded milk
1 tablespoon melted butter
1 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
2 eggs
Combine all ingredients except eggs and milk. Beat egg yolks and add with milk. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Place in a buttered baking dish and oven-poach in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until firm—about 40 minutes

Glue Pot Can Do Wonders With Broken Furniture

Excessive heat or excessive moisture may cause glued parts of furniture to come apart. To reglue scrape off all dry glue from the parts, sandpaper, apply fresh glue and rejoin. For this purpose use animal glue especially made for furniture. When gluing parts of chair legs together, use a clamp to hold the broken parts together until dry. Allow at least 48 hours for drying. A screw may be inserted in broken parts to keep them in place. The screw hole should be drilled in to prevent splitting the wood.

Liner's Commander Awarded O.B.E.

CAPTAIN JOHN BISSET SMITH, master of the Canadian Pacific liner, Empress of Asia, before the war and her commander when she was bombed and lost at Singapore last February has been made an Officer of the Order of the British Empire, according to word received from London. He is now overseas to take command of another liner. It is assumed that Captain Smith was honored in recognition of his exploit at Singapore, when, although it was impossible to save the Asia, he manoeuvred the ship so successfully under bombing that with one exception all crew members but one were saved. Captain Smith had made his home in Vancouver until the Empress of Asia was taken over by the Admiralty at the outbreak of war.

Want is a bitter and a hateful good. Because its virtues are not understood; Yet many things, impossible to thought. Have been by need to full perfection brought.—Dryden.

Feeding The Eskimos

By the year 1890, the principal food supply of natives of Alaska — mostly Eskimos — who live along the coast of Western and Northern Alaska, namely, the whale, seal and walrus, had become so depleted by white whalers that a new food resource was necessary to prevent human suffering. Reindeer were brought into the territory to relieve the food shortage.

So you see reindeer are of some use beside transporting Santa Claus to the chimney-tops of the world on Christmas Eve.

YOU SLEPT WELL THAT NIGHT,
DIDN'T YOU?

BUT GEORGE WAS AT DIEPPE!

NICE fellow, George—one of the lads from the office. Remember, you had him out for dinner one night. He made a great fuss over your kids—and your wife was very pleased. And then, all of a sudden, he slipped away and joined up. Left his good job, his girl and his future. And he was at Dieppe, slogging up the beach into a murderous rain of steel—fighting for you and your wife and those kids of yours he played with. And that same night you slept well, didn't you... in a soft bed. You had an egg for breakfast too. But George didn't. And you've still got a good job and you wear good clothes.

And being conscientious, you worry about these things a bit. But you just haven't been able to push yourself into doing much more than pay your taxes. Well, those taxes aren't enough. Think of what George gave up, and then sit down with your wife and ask yourselves, "What else can we do?" Sure, you've given up a few little luxuries. But there are lots of things yet that you can cut down on. Do it gladly. Because you'll really get a kick out of investing the money you save in Victory Bonds, and in knowing you're not letting George do it all.

Just keep thinking about George and what he gave up. And remember, those Victory Bonds you buy aren't giving—they're lending your country money to help protect you. That money will come back to you with interest.

The public are urged to buy their tickets now for the I.O.D.E. Retail Furriers' Draw. This draw, to take place in Massey Hall, Toronto, November 6th, 1942, consists of furs to the value of $25,000 donated by the Retail Furriers of Ontario to the I.O.D.E. to raise money for war work.

There are 68 garments in the draw, and any ticket may win any one of the garments. The most popular prize with many ticket buyers seems to be the $3,000 mink coat, but, realizing that the proceeds from the draw will augment the Order's war funds, loyal supporters are eager to contribute their bit and share in the chances of winning a beautiful fur garment as well.

Fifty per cent of the proceeds of the local sale of tickets will be retained here for the war work of our own Chapter.

During the next few weeks Christmas boxes will be packed for the boys of Grimsby and district overseas, and we are asking the generous support of the public in this undertaking.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Grant, and Max Grant, Jr., of Port Huron, Mich., together with Mr. and Mrs. John Grant, of Grimsby, motored to Three Rivers, Quebec, while on the trip, they also visited Quebec City, and other points of interest.

At the Baby Show, held in connection with Beamsville Fair, two Grimsby children were winners. They were Joan Caroline Konkie, best girl under six months; and Maurice Robinson, best boy over six months.

Jack Way, Herb Jarvis, Perney DeQuetteville and Jim Wood (former troop leader), of the First Grimsby Troop of Boy Scouts, spent four days and all their pocket money at the C. N. E. Scout Camp.

The highway on Friday was the scene of two accidents caused by the appearance of a skunk on the roadway. A car ran over a skunk and skidded into a guard rail, while a truck driver in his endeavour to miss running over its remains, also skidded into the guard rail and upset several baskets of grapes on the roadway, which caused other cars to skid in going round the corner.

Plan Christmas Boxes To Save Shipping Space

To insure Christmas parcels reaching Service men overseas in good time, postal authorities at Ottawa advise mailing not later than November 10, earlier if possible.

Auxiliary Services, Department of National Defence, concerned particularly with the welfare of men in the Services, advises families and friends to club together this year and send one substantial Christmas parcel instead of duplications in several. Everyone must remember, however, the need for conservation of shipping space for war materials. See that parcels will stand up to shipping by using good corrugated cardboard strips and sealed with brown gummed paper. See they are firmly packed to avoid being crushed in by the weight of other parcels. Address fully and legibly on both sides.

It is anticipated turkey and chicken will be on the Christmas fare of Canadians overseas this year as previously. "Send a small tin of cranberry sauce," Auxiliary Services advise. This is one of the homely touches lacking in past years. Cranberries are scarce in Britain.

Crystallized fruits, maple sugar, toffee, nut, fruit or coconut-rich chocolate bars; fruit cake, dates, figs, peanuts in vacuum-sealed tins; lemon powder to make lemonade; concentrated orange juice, meat cubes, cocoa with powdered milk and sugar added, are high on the list of things to be included. Avoid anything with a strong flavour, such as peppermints, fancy cheese unless sealed in tins or cellophane; soaps, etc. that will penetrate to other foods in the parcel.

Helps To Prevent Accidents

Dark stairs should be finished in light shades. Cellar stairs should be painted, and an edge of white increases their safety. Top and bottom steps are more plainly visible when painted solid white.

Discuss Canada's War Costs

WINDSOR, ONT.: HON. J. L. ILSLEY, Minister of Finance, right, discusses his $3,900,000,000 wartime budget with Wallace R. Campbell, president of Ford of Canada. Explaining features of the new income taxes and savings plans to Ford workers, Mr. Ilesley said the tax is not as drastic as many seem to think. He warned of the seriousness of the war situation and said that if Canada is to maintain her war effort at expected and essential levels that all citizens must be prepared to pay their taxes and to continue to loan their savings to the Government voluntarily. The 15,000 Ford employees were lauded on their enviable record of nearly $2,000,000 already invested in victory bonds while maintaining their regular purchase of war savings certificates at a high level. The great plant is entirely engaged in war production.

An "If" For The C.W.A.C.

If you can keep your buttons brightly polished,
And sew your tapes and markers firm and straight,
If you can make your bed-roll in a jiffy,
And for parades be not a second late;
If you can tell a femoral from an ulna,
And recognize all those conventional signs,
Like windmills, churches, cemeteries and bridges,
And indicate important power lines . . .
If you can figure out a simple gradient,
And give the answer in a second or less,
If you can recognize friends, "Dick" and "Arthur",
And not get muddled in a gassy mess.
If you can rise at six with muscles twitching,
And think it grand to sweat and toil like hell,
And have no aches or pains or fa-on arches,
You're on the road to doing fairly well.
If you can eat the meals Macdonald offers,
And not increase your girth or dread spare tire,
And laugh at your mistakes and take your medicine,
And reach the goal to which you would aspire . . .
If you can be a friend who holds no grudges,
And keep your head when all seems in a whirl,
You'll make your section proud to have you in it,

TAIL-WAGGER CHATS

HOLIDAYS AT HOME
The Company of Dogs
By PHILOKUEON

There is much good sense in the request of the Government that we should take our holidays at home, although one admits that the idea is not altogether palatable. A change of scene and air, a rest from household duties, are, of course, the principal charm of holidays in ordinary times, but these times are not ordinary and we have to make the best of things. Some of my friends who have disregarded the wishes of Authority have told me of their uncomfortable experiences when travelling, but they have got no sympathy from me. What else could they expect?

Supposing we decide not to go away, how can we get the best from a temporary cessation of work? I am one who is a gardener or player of games loafing about the premises no change for the woman of the house, who is just as much in need of a break as the man who works. Those of us who have dogs and live outside the centre of large towns are fortunate. We can usually manage to take lunch with us and get away into the country for a long day. Man, wife and children are all the jollier if Peter is with them as well. He will afford them distraction, and playing with him will be a relief from forced conversation.

Unless the dog is elderly and sedate he will keep your attention occupied, taking your mind off everyday affairs, and making a long walk seem easy. It is surprising what a distance can be covered in this way without one becoming tired. Since the war started I have taken on several voluntary duties that are almost a full time job, and in order to carry on my own article writing I have to tax myself to the utmost. In order to have relief I have worked longer hours for five days in the week, and taken Saturdays off. First thing in the morning Brutus and I set off for nearly three hours and afterwards and evenings see us out again for shorter distances. Friends ask: "Aren't you overtaxing yourself at your age?" the answer is that Brutus is such good company that the miles are not noticed. Plenty of breaks are afforded by giving him a run after a ball and watching his interest in the various diversions that occur.

On returning home with an appetite that is denied me on the other five days, my meals are a pleasure, and I am in the humour to write an article or two as well without feeling tired. On the days in which I am occupied in Town my wife finds amusement by taking the dog out. At weekends a rest-is-welcome-to-her-after-she-is released from A.R.P. duties. Between us, we have to admit that the dog is better than any tonic.

Better to hunt in fields for health unbought,
Than fee the doctor for a nauseous

Jettison

"Jettison" is a sea term, and means something that is thrown overboard in the effort to lighten a ship, especially when she is in danger of being lost or wrecked. The word is used also as a verb; we say, for example, that the vessel had to jettison most of her cargo in order to be able better to weather a storm. A figurative use of the word is seen in the following: "Evidently the leaders of the party now dominant at the state capital are willing to jettison their principles in order to strengthen their chances of carrying the next election."

The word "jettison" is about the same as "jetsam," used in the familiar phrase, "flotsam and jetsam." "Flotsam" means wreckage from a ship found floating on the water; "jetsam" means, specifically, such goods when washed ashore.

Both "jettison" and "jetsam" are derived from an old French word "getaison," meaning a throwing, and this in turn is derived from "jeter," to cast or throw.—Every-day Sayings.

Thought

The wise for cure on exercise depend:
God never made his work for man to mend.

In these days, when it is difficult to get indoor domestic help, the uses of dogs to women are intensified. I was talking to a lady the other day whose husband leaves home early and returns late. The loneliness was so getting on her nerves that the least sound frightened her. The purchase of a dog put an end to this lamentable state of affairs.

For some time I've been receiving The Grimsby Independent and wish to take this opportunity of expressing my thanks for your thoughtfulness in forwarding the paper to me. It has been a real treat to get the home town news. At present we are training quite hard and are in top shape for what we hope will be our chance in the near future.

Just a line to thank you and the people of Grimsby for all their kindness, for the paper you have sent me, and for the cigarettes I have received through Mr. Millard. Also for the parcel received from the Lodges. They are a very much appreciated, especially, cigarettes, which are very scarce over here.

Remember me to all my friends and family. I have seen some action which you will have read about. I was there, and a lucky man to get back. It was hot while it lasted.

Obituary

WILFRID C. MORRISON
A former resident of Grimsby passed away early Friday morning, September 25th, at his home, 147 Highbourne Road, Toronto, in the person of Wilfrid Christopher Morrison.

Born in Toronto, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Morrison, he had lived in this district a number of years, being manager of The Grimsby Neckwear Company, Ltd., later moving back to Toronto where he has been manager of The Paris Neckwear Company, Ltd., of New York City, for the past twelve years.

He is survived by his wife, the former Louisa Flett, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Flett; Winston C. Morrison, a son by a former marriage, and a sister, Mrs. Fred Hardy, of Toronto.

The late Mr. Morrison was an accomplished violinist, and had taken much interest in choir work in St. James Cathedral in Toronto, St. Andrew's Anglican church and St. John's Presbyterian church, Grimsby.

Rev. I. B. Kaine, B.A., of Dunnville, formerly of St. John's Presbyterian church, Grimsby, conducted the funeral service from the Morley S. Bedford Funeral Home, Eglington Avenue, West, Toronto, on Monday afternoon, which was largely attended by business associates and friends from Toronto.

The honorary pallbearers were Messrs. Frank Parton, Percy Carter, Jas. Hunter, Robert Stevenson, Fred Hardy and Mr. Tucker. Interment was made at Queen's Lawn cemetery, Grimsby, with Rev. J. A. Ballard of St. Andrew's Anglican Church officiating. The active pallbearers were Fred Jewson, D. E. Anderson, J. H. Gibson, W. H. House, L. A. Bromley and J. D. Lamont.

Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. H. Burton announce the engagement of their daughter, Violet (Vickie), to Mr. Edwin Metcalfe, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Metcalfe, wedding to take place at the St. Andrew's Anglican Church, Grimsby, October 17th.

Red Cross Nursing Classes

The meeting scheduled to be held on Wednesday evening to make arrangements for the forthcoming nursing classes to be held under the auspices of Grimsby and District Red Cross Branch was postponed. It was found that many women and girls who wished to join the classes were still at work in fruit orchards and canning factories. A date for the course in nursing will be set when these prospective members are at liberty.

Godliness or Christianity is a human necessity; man cannot live without it; he has no intelligence, health, hope, nor happiness without godliness.—Mary Baker Eddy.
